

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides body temperature elevating agents and foods and drinks for body temperature elevation. The invention relates to the body temperature elevating agent and 5 food and drink for the body temperature elevation, which is comprised of medium chain fatty acid and/or glycerin fatty acid ester including the medium chain fatty acid, preferably medium chain fatty acid triglycerin as an active ingredient(s).